EarthMoments is proud to present the ultimate Didgeridoo Sample Pack - Australia, to give your music that extra special groove.

This exclusive Didgeridoo Package has been optimised with the closest attention to detail, staying true to the sound with over 60 authentic samples that have been recorded using tube Pre-Amps and Mics on 96kHz.

Performed by top Australian didgeridoo artist Stuart Fergie, who uses his specially customized and unique Yadaki (didgeridoo). Even as a child, Stu Boga Fergie's didgeridoo skills were extraordinary enough for the Yakin Andu elders to gift him the nickname DidgeriStu.

Years later, Stu still shakes earth and sky on his didgeridoo as part of the genre-defying dance-roots duo, OKA. Stu brings the ancient stories of his people to stages and dance floors across the world, keeping the spiritual melodies pure, while pumping throbbing, earthy beats of tribal music for the digital age. The didgeridoo was born in the Northern Territory of Australia. The indigenous Aborigines of Northeast Arnhem Land maintained a long unbroken traditional art of making the didgeridoo, an instrument that the Yolngu artists of Northeast Arnhem Land call Yadaki. Made out of a section of an eucalyptus tree that has been hollowed out, its sounds and rhythm are created from vibrating the lips while using a circular breathing technique that causes the musician's mouth, as well as the inside of the instrument, to resonate.
