The Resonant Vibes re:produce samples series is a fresh and exciting concept, designed with avid producers and audiophiles in mind. Each re:produce sample pack is engineered by a highly respected producer and offered for an irresistible bargain price.

To kick off the re:produce series in proper fashion, Komposit (Damon Fonooni, aka Habersham) delivered 124 MB of killer techno and house sounds. His re:produce 001 pack includes beat loops, staple synth sounds, and a basic Komposit One-Hit pack with Battery kit. The beat loops and drum samples range in tempo from 122 to 128 bpm and are perfect for modern house, techno, and electro production. The synth and noise sounds have warm undertones of dub techno and house along with tonal sounds fit for any genre of driving dance floor tunes.

Working under his Komposit alias, Damon has enjoyed worldwide releases on premier labels like EQ, Vellum, Auralism and his own Lobotomy Records. His reputation in underground circles and beyond is impeccable, and now he's delivered some of his post prized sounds in an affordable sample pack.

Enjoy!
