The owner and A&R of Fetish Recordings, Joey Youngman has been producing house music since the tender age of 11. Constantly building on his foundations of extensive training in classical and jazz piano, to where he is today with his current style and diverse musicality. Youngman's unique sound is characterized by bumpy, funky basslines, drums and the "dirty disco" sound that has re-emerged in his production work over the past year. He is credited with helping ignite the "New School Jack" movement that continues its rise on the Midwest and West Coast. "I've crafted my own style that still has the elements of all my influences," he says. Joey Youngman — "Jacked Out Future House" is a collection of Future House samples created for producers looking to make inspired House tracks. This set utilises all of Joey's expert knowledge and production techniques, which until now he has kept a closely guarded secret and used only to create his succession of clubland hits.
